

Cupid Falls Park At Corn Creek Preserve

Cupid Falls Park at Corn Creek Preserve

A 13-acre park with trails, pavilion, rain garden, and, of course, waterfalls. This park can be found at the intersection of Bryson and Thomas Town Road. When parking at the first lot on left, turn left towards picnic tables to take the short walk to the falls. View the signage on the way to learn more about how to create a rain garden, and to learn the history of Corn Creek Preserve.

Purpose

This park was created by the City of Young Harris for the community to enjoy. The park consists of 1 mile of trails, bathrooms, boardwalks, rain garden, and a pavilion.
